

CERRO COSO COMMUNITY COLLEGE CHILD DEVELOPMENT New Online Classes

FALL 2022

CHDV C156: Introduction to Dual Language in Early Childhood

This course explores cultural and linguistic responsiveness in early childhood settings with emphasis on the importance of the child's home language. It provides a historical overview of dual language programs in the United States. Special attention is given to building a foundation for understanding theories of language development and child development through the context of dual language learners. Students are required to observe children in a group setting.

SPRING 2023

CHDV C256: Strategies and Curriculum for Dual Language Learners in Early Childhood

Prerequisite: CHDV C156

This course includes principles and strategies for culturally and linguistically responsive teaching, building strong connections with families, classroom environments, curriculum, and authentic assessment. Students explore strategies to effectively support all dual language learners in an early childhood setting from infancy through preschool. Students are required to observe children in a group setting.
